

ENCYCLOPEDIA OF THE NON-EXISTENT WRITERS

Various authors

A gigantic work of fiction: five hundred information sheets about authors that never existed and works that no one could have ever read, by around two hundred authors, many of whom are actually real. A 'potential' literature, with fictional but believable characters, who go through different ages and cultures, from prehistory to futuristic robots, between made-up literary movements, non-existent figures of speech, never printed magazines and imaginary book fairs. A great work for a world literature that never existed.
